I have just published and released my new FREE Internet and Computer book entitled:

A NET Hyperlinked Harmony of the Gospels In Canonical Order which is now available for you to use online, or to download for your own collection at:

<https://www.theologyfrombelow.org/files/Books/GospelHarmony/NET/NETGospelHarmony.pdf> .

This is a Harmony of the Gospels from the NET Bible (aka New English Translation). It now joins my KJV Hyperlinked Harmony which was released earlier this year. If you would like to use all or part(s) of it for the development of your own projects, you can download a complete package from <https://www.theologyfrombelow.org/files/Books/GospelHarmony/NET/NETGospelHarmony.zip> .

The .pdf file is also available from my Academia page at <https://logcollege.academia.edu/MDavidJohnson> and can also be found on the Internet Archive at

Why another Gospel Harmony? Many harmonies already exist in many different formats.

But I wanted something more for my personal study. And I'm also making this Harmony freely available to anyone else who may find it useful in their own pursuits.

The Harmony presented in this book provides the four Gospels in canonical order so that you can, if you wish, read straight through them the same way you would in any Bible. It also subdivides each Gospel into independent and related sections with internal bookmarks and links so you can readily jump back and forth between parallel passages at will.

If you find this Gospel Harmony useful in your own work, please give all the glory to our Lord and Savior, Jesus Christ.
